

SOLUTION TO PAPER School Property Destruction PROBLEM SOUGHT Brings Warning from Court

Nelson Indicates There'll Be No Cuts Before Oct. 1.

63 Windows Broken During Two Week-Ends; Juvenile Judge Asks Parents To Help Stop Vandalism.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A congressional committee recommended today that the war production board take steps to prevent waste and non-essential use of paper by the federal government; and that the war man-power commission designate the paper-production industry as an essential war industry.

This action was taken by a house interstate subcommittee after it had been informed by WPA Chairman Donald M. Nelson that no further restrictions on the use of newsprint and print paper by newspapers and magazines "are in prospect" before Oct. 1 "unless the newspapers fail to achieve the ten per cent reduction already ordered."

Today's was the first open hearing the committee has held. Representatives Brown, Republican of Ohio, and Wolverton, Republican of New Jersey, repeatedly criticized the use of paper by government agencies.

Brown accused the government of being "the principal waster of paper," an accusation concurred in by Donald M. Sterling, WPA consultant on newspapers and publications, who read Nelson's statement.

Nelson emphasized that the promise of no further restrictions on paper before Oct. 1, was "subject to full compliance with the existing WPA limitation orders" reducing the use of paper by approximately 10 per cent.

"It is impossible to forecast at this time what action will be necessary beyond the third quarter of this year," Nelson's statement said, adding:

"The several limitation orders enacted the first of the year affecting the use of newsprint and print paper by newspaper, magazines, and books express the minimum reduction compelled by reduced supplies of critical materials."

"In each case the limitation upon use does not exceed 10 percent. In the application of each order there is no restriction upon freedom of expression. None is intended and none exists."

"The newspaper has a dual entity. As an industry, it translates print paper into a manufactured product. As an institution, it has a definite responsibility for public service, which responsibility is all the greater in time of war. The same is true of magazines and books."

Nelson said the existing limitation order governing the use of newsprint "solely affects the newspaper as an industry, and does not impair the essential service of the newspaper as an institution in the matter of printing news and comment and in promoting the war effort."

"To the competent publisher and editor, reasonable curtailment is not impairment," he added.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

By The Associated Press
YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 11.—James Young, 19, was held without bond on a first degree murder charge here today. Police charged Young was one of four youths who kidnapped a Youngstown doctor, stole his car, then fatally injured two pedestrians while speeding through downtown streets, in an attempt to elude pursuing officers last Tuesday. Young waived preliminary hearing.

Vigorous Health Rich Red Blood

The facts are simple because of all the conditions affecting the human body a "low blood count" is the most deceptive. If you feel run down, poor appetite, have lost weight—chances are if you restore these precious red-blood cells back to normal your troubles will be over.

In Nuco-Ferrin you go after the trouble in two ways. First you increase the appetite and better your stomach digestion in order to get more good out of the food you do eat. Secondly thin, weak, watery blood is made rich and red again thus giving you the vigor and vitality you need for a healthy and happy life. Try Nuco-Ferrin today on a money-back guarantee. British Speed Drivers Retire for Duration

By The Associated Press
LONDON—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The three British drivers who pushed the world's automobile speed record to 352.61 miles an hour have retired for the duration.

Sir Malcolm Campbell, 52-year-old pioneer racing motorist, was the first of the trio to travel faster than 300 miles an hour on land. He took his Bluebird over the Bonneville, Utah, Salt Flats, at 301.122 mph in 1935.

Three years later, Capt. George Eyston and John Cobb, the six-foot two-inch London fur dealer, hooked up in a duel on the same flats with Eyston finally leaving the field with a record of 357.5 mph established by his Thunderbolt. Cobb, however, returned in 1939 with his 24-cylinder Railton Red Lion and after several attempts beat the standard record.

Unless the practice is stopped immediately it will mean that all playing on the school grounds will be prohibited after school hours and this will mean that a number of children who use the grounds for play, and who do no damage to the property, will be denied a place for recreation, Mr.

Welch stated. He is appealing to parents to help in curbing the destruction and to cooperate in preventing further destruction by keeping a closer watch on their children.

Finds Biggest Job in Army Training Is To Overcome Rookies' Complacency

The Associated Press
Marion, May 11.—Charles L. Scott, 32, the general manager of the reconditioning center at this plant of the nation's armored forces, said: "The American men, after the Army, are the most complacent." The Boy Scout staff, which is training a group of 23 news correspondents in intensive tactics, "are soon snap out of it," he said. "There are some who won't even consider peace-time bombs."

He said the condition was common throughout the country—just like the majority good fighters—smart, well-equipped, cunning and ruthless.

The enemy has taught us that we must kill without compensation and possibly get a little fun out of it."

He said all new men at Fort Knox were given training designed to toughen them up and give them a taste of what battle is like, and he added:

"All have a tendency towards complacency, but out of a group, say, of 1,000 men, you have to really go to town on 25 per cent. These include men lacking in education, those who were neglected at home, those who never went to church, and men who never held any particular job. The smart ones soon realize that they're going into battle and that had these results:

"We've reduced our venereal disease rate 75 per cent in six months—away below that in many civilian communities. And absences without leave are less than one half of one per cent."

The general spoke after the newsmen had witnessed striking examples of the armored forces' tests of both men and machines to prepare them for combat.

Funds for Bibles Voted by Adventist Church

Money for 16 Bibles to be given to prisoners at the London Prison Farm was donated Saturday by the Marion congregation of the Seventh Day Adventist church at its services. Elder Anat Grundset of Mt. Vernon outlined the need for the Bibles at the service a week before.

The money will be sent to the American Bible Society with instructions to send the Bibles to the prison farm, where the denomination conducts weekly religious services.

Members of the congregation also are donating other books for the prison farm library.

DEATH OF 2 MILLION POLES LAID TO NAZIS
Halifax Charges Eight Million Have Been Punished.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, May 11.—The British ambassador to the United States, Lord Halifax, charged yesterday more than 8,000,000 Polish men and women had suffered "barbarous punishment for death" at the hands of the Nazis.

"The latest estimates I have had show that whereas 150,000 Poles fell in the actual fighting, probably about 400,000 Poles and 1,500,000 Polish Jews have since died by execution or maltreatment," he said.

"The estimates further show that 2,000,000 Poles have been sent to forced labor in Germany; that 3,000,000 more have been driven from their homes, and that 1,000,000 are in concentration camps or prisons. That is to say, out of a peaceful population of 35,000,000 more than 8,000,000 men and women have suffered barbarous punishment or death."

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., May 11.—The leadership of state Democratic Chairman Darrell S. Jones was challenged today by the party's county bosses who gave Jones until July 1 to "deliver the goods" in the form of more federal jobs for the organization's faithful.

The challenge was hurled yesterday at a surprise meeting of county chairmen at which Jones was accused of supporting Wendell Willkie for president against:

Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1940. The unexpected gathering was called by State Auditor Joseph F. Ferguson. It came shortly before Jones was to meet the county chairmen in a regularly-scheduled conference on yesterday's Washington banquet program. Jones and members of the party's federal patronage committee—National Committeeman Charles Sawyer, National Committeewoman Mildred Jaster, and State Central Committee Chairman Al Horstman—were summoned to explain the patronage situation. All but Sawyer responded.

Object to G.O.P. Jobs Answering Ferguson's charges that "too many Republicans" were getting the "good" jobs in the state, Jones asserted he was meeting obstacles and promised to have things rolling "smoothly" within four or five weeks.

Ferguson demanded to know why Elizabet L. Williams, Republican, was permitted to hold the $2,000-a-year job of regional office of price administrator.

Jones admitted he had discussed Williams' job with Prentiss M. Brown, OPA administrator, but said he had given his word not to divulge what was going to happen.

The meeting reached a climax when John Nolan, Jefferson county Democratic boss, joined Ferguson in accusing the national committee of failing to obtain patronage.

Nolan asserted that Jones "has done nothing" the past eight months, and added:

"I don't think Darrel will ever be able to secure patronage for Ohio. I was told in Washington that you (Jones) had followed George White and supported Wendell Willkie."

Calls Charge Ridiculous

(After the meeting, Jones told newsmen he considered Nolan's charges "too ridiculous to answer.")

The county chairmen suggested that a committee to confer in Washington be named, but Ferguson explained the national committee recognized only Sawyer, Mrs. Jaster and Horstman in matters of patronage.

John A. Schwalm, Butler county chairman, moved that the state chairman be given until July to "deliver the goods." Schwalm's motion carried.

No decision was reached as to what might follow if the chairmen decided Jones failed to "deliver the goods," but Ferguson said later that he would call another meeting.

Columbus Council Votes
Switch to Fast Time

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., May 11—Columbus will switch to fast time during spring and summer months for the war's duration. If a measure passed by city council last night is signed by Mayor Floyd Green.

The ordinance would place Columbus on eastern war time from the first Sunday in April to the first Sunday in October (which is Oct. 3 this year). It would be in effect until six months after the war.

Mayor Green declined to indicate what action he would take on the measure.

Should the city go back to eastern wartime, either with or without the mayor's approval, the state would be left with only one major city—Dayton—on the hour-slow time schedule which became effective for the state Feb. 21. Other municipalities declined to switch time after the general assembly voted the change.

Bituminous Irony

THE government, now operating the coal mines, apparently is not immune to some of the same troubles and problems of private operation. Members of United Mine Workers do not feel bound to stay on the job because they are government employees, for example. Nor are there any signs that they will give less heed from now on to John L. Lewis, who has refused to think of himself in any sense as a government employee.

The miners' leaders do not seem deeply impressed with the fact that the United States government never has conducted collective bargaining negotiations and is committed to a policy against being a party to such negotiations. Nor are they bowled over by the fact that the United States government, their new employer, does not recognize the right to strike against the United States government, although it has been pretty rugged at times in defense of the right to strike against everything else.

As the tension in the coal fields approaches its second climax in two weeks, these are the evident facts. It is not hard to imagine that the operators, who have been through the same thing time after time, but always with the government as a third party until late years, when it took the miners' side, are having the equivalent of a vacation while the government wrestles the bituminous champ and former White House favorite for a change.

Tunis, Bizerte, Now What?

AMERICANS, Englishmen, Frenchmen, Italians and Germans all would like to know the answer to the same question right now. What comes after Tunis and Bizerte?

While the North African campaign is not ended, it has been won. The issue has been decided. What remains to be done now has no bearings on the outcome; the rest will be in the nature of liquidating a long, hard and costly campaign to drive the Axis out of Africa.

Hilter would like to know where the victorious British and United States armies will be encountered next. Mussolini would like to know. Laval and Petain would like to know. The Quislings in Norway and other places wish they could have sufficient warning to get into the clear. Meanwhile, all they can do is help Hitler build walls. The West Wall, to keep out invaders entering Germany from the west, is well known. But now dispatches are mentioning an Atlantic Wall, and the German radio is telling its listeners that the resistance in Africa has given Hitler time to build what presumably will be known as the Mediterranean wall. But what Germany really needs now is a submarine pen big enough to hold the entire country. That sounds like a good idea, in fact.

It Makes Sense

A GOVERNMENT subsidy cushion between food processing costs and consumer prices makes sense.

The most important public business at the moment, next to prosecution of the war, is holding down the inflationary spiral.

Organized labor has declared it must have one of two things: wage adjustments to rising living costs, or stabilization of the living costs.

It has been made evident by the instability of the costs that the government has not been able to stabilize them with the techniques used up to this time.

From many quarters the suggestion has come that a better technique would be to freeze consumer prices absolutely, making it possible for every consumer in the country to know what the ceiling price was on everything from fresh asparagus to dried prunes.

At the same time, in recognition of the circumstances affecting costs of production—such as war-created shortages of materials and labor, transportation charges, taxation and so on—the government would make whatever financial adjustments might be necessary to furnish the producer and the processor with incentive; i.e., to enable them to show a reasonable profit.

This, it was argued, would eliminate the direct transmission of every adjustment in prices at the processor level to the consumer level. While the government subsidy would run into large figures, it would be only a tiny fraction of the cost to consumers, both as private citizens and taxpayers, of runaway inflation. Certainly, the idea was worth trying before the government gave in to demands for endless wage increases to keep abreast of living costs—increases that would be granted at the expense of all citizens who didn't obtain increases. Apparently, that is the decision that has been made in Washington. It is the most hopeful news from the home front since President Roosevelt and Economic Stabilization Director Byrnes promised "to hold the line" a month ago. That was a promise; this may be the means of keeping it.

TOO CONSCIENTIOUS

There is such a thing as getting religion and letting it interfere with your business. For example, a lawyer down our way really got religion and tried to follow out to the letter. When a jury was being selected he would "knock off" all the prospective jurors who would be friendly to his own client and left on those who would be friendly to the other side on the precept of doing good toward your enemies. This year that lawyer has quit practice and is raising a Victory Garden.—Kansas City Times.

News Behind the News

Talk About Lobbyists Brings Up Name of Silver Committee Clerk.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 11—Congressional fever has been running a little high over the lavish entertainment activities of a lobbyist trying to secure war contracts.

The well-known names of a lot of officials who broke his bread in a house he rented on millionaires' row (R Street, Northwest) have been bandied about freely.

The trouble behind the story apparently is that the congressional investigators have been unable to find that this particular lavish-spending lobbyist got many war contracts, or undeserved ones—of which there must have been many if the law of averages prevailed during the awards of these historic billions of war dollars.

Different Method

More successful lobbying is generally accomplished in a different way. If congress is really hot and bothered on the subject, it can look into the senate's own special silver committee and there it will find a silver lobbyist employed as its deputy clerk. He hired no big house. He moved into the senators' own office building where he occupies room 433A.

The gentleman's name is James A. White, and when he is not clerking for the special silver committee, he is employed by the Rocky Mountain Metal Foundation, with headquarters in the Barr building here.

A Hearing

At a meeting of the sub-committee of the senate banking and currency committee (the Maloney committee) he sat by the side of the silver bloc leader, Senator McCarran (Democrat-Nevada) and McCarran introduced one of his letters into the record.

1944 Outlook

If we have not won the war by November, 1944, or do not have victory at hand, public sentiment is likely to be anything but favorable to the parties who have been conducting the war that far.

The treasury wants the bill to contain a provision allowing it to sell this silver at not less than 50 cents an ounce, but the silver bloc wants the bill to specify 71 cents an ounce—21 cents more. The silver boys do not want the government to sell silver at less than the subsidy price which they imposed upon the treasury in their law of July 6, 1939.

Mr. White Questioned

The matter of Mr. White's employment came up at that hearing. Senator Danaher (Republican-Connecticut) asked the conspicuous Mr. White at McCarran's side three questions:

Whether he was on the senate payroll; whether he was director of the Rocky Mountain Metal Foundation.

By JOHN SELBY

SAX BRADFORD writes good, bouncy prose and apparently enjoys doing it. He came very close to burying the meat of "The Battle for Buenos Aires" under his good, bouncy prose, and if he had, it would have been a shame.

The book is one of the best expressions I have read of the underlying difficulties in Argentina. Those who write about that unfortunate country from the point of view of long residence there will, I am sure, point out that Mr. Bradford was only in Argentina a short while, and this is true. But he is a good newspaperman, a careful observer, and he has been willing to work. His facts are usually accompanied by the corroborative dates, names and references, and they make sense. I have read one or two sober products on Argentina, written by sober gentlemen who have lived quite a spell in Buenos Aires and gotten much less solid nourishment for my pains.

Mr. Bradford makes the situation clear, after a good many introductory pages of pure color. Argentina is a country in which the mass of people is pro-democratic. It is governed, however, by a kind of false aristocracy corruptly maintaining itself by a series of deals so complicated as to enable them to show a reasonable profit.

This, it was argued, would eliminate the direct transmission of every adjustment in prices at the processor level to the consumer level. While the government subsidy would run into large figures, it would be only a tiny fraction of the cost to consumers, both as private citizens and taxpayers, of runaway inflation. Certainly, the idea was worth trying before the government gave in to demands for endless wage increases to keep abreast of living costs—increases that would be granted at the expense of all citizens who didn't obtain increases. Apparently, that is the decision that has been made in Washington. It is the most hopeful news from the home front since President Roosevelt and Economic Stabilization Director Byrnes promised "to hold the line" a month ago. That was a promise; this may be the means of keeping it.

WLB DEFENDS ACTION TO CHECK INFLATION

State Reports It Holds Its End of Line.

Associated Press WASHINGTON, May 11—Complaints of inflation of the price of food and the like order of the war labor board has led to the fact it was holding up the end of the line against the order. The order was issued yesterday by Chairman Edward H. Davis to Vice President Frank Murphy, who said voluntary increases in food prices approved by the board were limited to only eight per cent of the total cost of living, and that current wage rates in all manufacturing industries increased only 1.9 cents per month in February, last year.

Davis defended the facts shown as salary increases since March 1 were ordered "have been held up, either directly or indirectly, to the cost-of-living index of the American people." This has been accomplished by understanding the fact that members of the board have been increased by increases in the wage and salary purchase."

The report prepared pursuant to a Senate resolution, discussed the work of the board only up to April 1. It did not deal with the hold-the-line order which stripped the board of authority to exceed the little steel formula except in the case of sub-standard. The board last week described the hold-the-line order as "unworkable" without further classification of the wage controls.

have been 340,000 other changes in dependency cases, each necessitating a complete rehandling. For example, 10,000 payees have died since the checks began issuing last September.

Then there was the company of soldiers which carried a trunkful of dependency applications all the way to England and North Africa.

The job of issuing the monthly checks becomes a highly mechanized job of stencilizing machines, computers, counting devices, ledger-printing machines, enveloping and mailing contraptions once the application is approved.

The seemingly effortless, quiet job of getting out the monthly vouchers is a maze of checking and counterchecking devices.

And—let the superstitions beware—the family allowance checks are signed and mailed on the 13th floor.

Precious little information is constantly given payees to prevent grafters from getting their money.

Equally important to the government, a staff of field investigators is on the job to make sure frauds don't cheat Uncle Sam either. At present, 50,000 cases are investigated each month because of some incomplete, suspicious or dubious factor.

One woman was found to have married three soldiers to get their dependency allowances. Another case was that of a soldier separated from his wife who met another man's estranged wife, decided to get her his dependency benefits and used the certificate of marriage to the other woman for proof. It didn't work.

Many odd requests come in, but perhaps, the ODB's weirdest assignment was set in a P. S. to a letter from a soldier's mother who refused to accept her allowance.

"If you have any safety pins," the afterthought confided, "please send me three dozen. Daughter-in-law going to have a baby. Please send pins. This is serious. I'll pay postage."

The ODB's feminine staff obliged.

the first full month that the authorization is in force.

3. Notifying the ODB office at 213 Washington street, Newark, N. J., of any change of address.

4. Including the soldier's name, his serial number and the authorization number in any correspondence.

How You Can

Help Speed Checks

Associated Press Features

If you are a soldier's dependent, the Army's Office of Dependency Benefits says your monthly check will arrive promptly if you help:

1. Making sure the application by the soldier or yourself in accompanying by documentary proofs such as marriage and birth certificates.

2. Understanding payments do not begin until the month following.

QUIZ PROGRAMS BLAMED

By The United Press

LOS ANGELES, CALIF.—Quiz programs on the radio have caused at least one divorce. Mrs. Janey Michel told the court that her husband Herbert Michel, former sailor but now in the Army, refused to let her listen to quiz programs because "he said he knew all the answers and I didn't have to know them."

The court held that the provocation was sufficient.

Social Affairs

PAGES were turned back in Marion's history when the Advance club closed the season by observing the birthday anniversary of the late Mrs. J. W. Freeland, one of the organizers of the club, yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry A. McKinley on Mt. Vernon avenue. Present for the occasion was Mrs. E. K. Clark who with Mrs. Freeland was instrumental in founding the club in 1900. For the program hour Mrs. L. C. Wagon read "The Building of Marion," by Miss Eleanor Freeland, daughter of Mrs. Freeland, and she presented the pageant depicting the building of Marion written by Miss Freeland for the centennial celebration. Mrs. George E. Frank read a number of poems from Mrs. Freeland's book, "Thoughts in Verse."

And Mrs. Clark talked informally on Mrs. Freeland's activities. Mrs. H. J. Mautz gave a paper on "Buckeye Poetry." Another contribution of $5 was made to the canteen for service men.

In the evening the members were joined by their husbands and friends for a 6 o'clock dinner and social hour. Arrangements were in charge of the social committee. Mrs. Howard Henry, Mrs. J. E. Standing, Mrs. D. T. Mills, Mrs. John McKillop, Mrs. J. W. Salisbury, Mrs. C. E. Cox, Mrs. R. L. Gettman and Mrs. J. K. Rutherford.

The members will study "The South Sea Islands" for the 1943-44 seasons.

G.O.P. SHOWING NEW STRENGTH

Exert Influence
in Law and Trade Measures.

The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, May 11.—The political activity of the G.O.P. is prominently shown at the Capitol Hill conference house trade supply squabbles over scrap. Other major developments in military committee work to bring out which members have plenty of time to meet members were the conference by their delegations that an effort was made to line up behind a pro-Interventionist Veto President Roosevelt's agreements. Demands went down to the measure of the President's trading other three years, something would kill the whole economy program. A vote is imminent.

Oppose WPA Shifts

At the same time, a brainchild of the G.O.P. opposition cropped up in the path of legislation to ban the war production board from over civilian supplies. The bill moved over to the Senate where it was approved yesterday despite strong Republican opposition.

Representative Wolcott (R-Ill.) ranking minority member of the House banking committee which gives first consideration to the measure expressed the opinion it was up another agency which is bound to confuse the whole setup. He declared that unless a lot of restrictions are written into it, it will encounter stiff opposition in the house.

Question of "How Much" The controversy over pay-as-you-go tax programs seemed to have summed down to a question of "how much" in the sense. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), proponent of the Rumford fair-a-year bill approved by the finance committee, told reporters the tax abatement now seems to have the approval of almost everybody, and "there is no matter of principle involved anywhere."

From the other side of the fence, Senator George (D-Ga.) accepted the question of how much taxes should be abated had become almost the sole issue.

Allied Demands Stand

Naturally the allies aren't going to alter their demand for unconditional surrender. It's clear that Hitler recognizes this, too, for the Nazi high command is feverishly trying to strengthen its defenses on all fronts, from the Balkans right round to Norway. The Boche, who are first class soldiers, appear to be up against one of their own smart schemes—the application of fierce pressure at numerous vital points simultaneously sudden opportunity permits of the sudden development of one or more of the drives. That's the strategy which the allies used to crack Tunisia. And the signs are that a similar line is to be employed against Hitler on the continent. Certainly there are in the offing some mighty interesting developments about which I wouldn't want to speculate here.

It may be that the Tunisian clean-up is moving a bit more rapidly than the allied command anticipated and that there may be a tiny lag in development of some of the promising adventures. However, it will be surprising if we don't get some sort of fresh offensive in the immediate future. Meantime the Russians are supporting the constant pressure strategy in their terrific drive in the vital Novorossisk sector of the western Caucasus.

State Labor Law Faces Final Hurdle Today

COLUMBUS, O., May 11—Legislation relaxing the laws regulating the employment of women and minors came to its final hurdle in the Ohio house of representatives today with sponsors confidently predicting passage.

Legislators friendly to organized labor, however, still were insisting on amendments which were rejected when the senate passed the bill. One specified a 48-hour work week, as compared with the bill's 50 hours.

The law now sets a maximum of 45 hours in factories and 48 hours in most other industries, although many manufacturers frankly told legislative committees they were finding it necessary to violate the law in order to meet war production demands.

The legislation up for a vote in the house would permit war plants, in emergencies, to exceed the 50-hour limit, subject to control by the state director of industrial relations and health.

Athens Co. Phantom Dies of Gun Wounds

ATHENS, O., May 11.—Jay Withem, the "phantom" who led Athens county sheriffs a 20-year-chase, died last night of wounds suffered when the law finally caught up with him Sunday.

Withem was indicted in 1923 for murder in the death of his wife, Sarah, at Sandy Hill, but until Sunday officers were unable to catch up with him. He drifted in and out of the county, hiding generally in the heavily wooded hill country.

Sheriff George Bateman and five officers flushed him from a cave late Sunday and shot him as he fled.

Presidents Split Bill with Galion

Locals Take First Game of Double-header 8-2; Drop Second 3-0.

Harding High's Presidents conference was every bit as effective as their regular baseball season at Lincoln park yesterday by splitting even in a return double-header with Galion. The Presidents took the first game, 8 to 2 but dropped the nightcap, 3 to 0.

The Orangemen thumped Harding twice in Galion last Thursday by 9 to 8 and 11 to 2 counts. Yesterday's even break gives Galion a three out of four record with the Presidents this year.

Dick Kay, Harding's ace southpaw flinger, pitched no hit ball against the Galion nine until the sixth inning of the curtain raiser.

Gene Plummer, Galion catcher, then spoiled Kay's bid for the scholastic hall of fame by rapping out a hard single through shortstop. W. Stoner then followed with a double and Emory Shaffer with a single to chalk up the Orangemen's only two runs. The speedy Kay struck out eight Galion batters, allowing only one to reach first base with a walk.

Harding scored the first tally of the game in the initial stanza on two singles by Dillinger and Kay and an infield one-baser by Dick Mulvane. In the third inning after Mulvane had driven across another run, putting the Presidents two markers to the good, junior shortstop Bob Virden clouted a long double near the left field fence, shoving two more runs in. Harding cage star Dick Mul-

HIGH SCHOOL SPRING SPORTS PROGRAM GETS UNDER WAY

Travel Restrictions Expected To Cut Participation to About 15,000.

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, May 11 — Ohio's biggest sports program—the high school track-field, tennis, golf and baseball district eliminations leading to the May 28-29 state championships—got under way this week.

Hampered somewhat by lack of talent, and by war-occasioned travel restrictions, this season's four-ply district schedule is expected to attract about 15,000 youngsters, instead of the usual 20,000.

Tiltonville's defending class A baseball champions probably will come back to the state meet without qualifying in district play. Commissioner H. R. Townsend said: "The scholastic athletic chief said Tiltonville, so far as he has been able to ascertain, has the only class A team in the eastern sector, and thus will qualify automatically. The eastern district diamond tourney originally was scheduled for Friday and Saturday at Bridgeport.

Bucyrus Meet Cancelled

The golf tourney slated May 22, at Bucyrus also has been called off, due to the entry of only three teams. The three have been shifted to the Toledo event scheduled May 21. Townsend said the golf meet booked May 21-22 at Ohio university, Athens, also will be discarded, no golf teams being entered from the southeastern district.

On this week-end, state are seven class A and six class B baseball tournaments, one each in golf, track and tennis.

The track event calls for the central district class A schools to compete Saturday at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware; the golf meet Saturday at Cadiz; for eastern district competitors; and the tennis affair Friday and Saturday at Cincinnati.

The class A baseball competitions are Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Columbus; Friday and Saturday at Canton, Akron, Athens, Miamisburg and Cincinnati, and Saturday at Lima. The class B baseball meets are at Kent, Tiffin, Defiance, Athens, Miamisburg and Cincinnati, all Friday and Saturday.

District Events

The districts swing into high gear the week-end of May 22 as they name qualifiers for the state competitions at Ohio State university, with meets scheduled on a score of fronts. Sites of the May 22 events are:

Track: Uhrichsville, Cleveland, Salem, Chagrin Falls, Braceville, Lorain, Bowling Green, Athens, Mansfield, Springfield and Cincinnati.

Golf: Columbus, South Euclid, Kent, Toledo, Findlay, Athens, Miamisburg and Cincinnati (Lima-Toledo winners meet May 24 at Findlay to name qualifiers.)

Baseball: Columbus, South Euclid, Kent, Toledo, Findlay, Athens, Miamisburg and Cincinnati.

Tennis: Columbus, Martins Ferry, Cleveland, Akron, Bowling Green, Athens and Springfield.

Defending champions are: class A, track, Cleveland East Tech (four straight years); class B track, Xenia O.S.S.O.; home (three straight years); baseball, Gosa A., Tivonians; class B, Reading; tennis, singles, Cincinnati Hughes (Appel); doubles, Martins Ferry (Kadar and Bowden); golf, Sylvania.

The Famous "Long Count"

Associated Press Features

NO INCIDENT in boxing history caused more controversy than the famous "long count" in the second Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney battle in Chicago Sept. 23, 1927. Dempsey, seeking to regain the crown Tunney had won from him the previous year, floored Tunney—but failed to go to a neutral corner. That delayed the start of the count and Referee Dave Barry blamed Dempsey for the alleged 14 second count. It possibly cost Jack the title for Tunney got up from that seventh round knockdown and won.

BATTING AVERAGES BEGIN TO LEVEL OFF

Lonnie Frey of Reds Still Leading Both Leagues.

By The Associated Press

N.YORK, May 11.—The batting averages in the National and American leagues have leveled off to something approaching equality in the fast week, but the most novel note they revealed today was four members of the so-called weak-hitting Cincinnati Reds among the top 10 hitters in the senior circuit.

Little Lonnie Frey even with his batting mark shrunk to 70 points from the imposing .407 he sported a week ago, continued to lead both major leagues with .397.

This average, by a veteran who ordinarily is under .280, was surprising enough, but hardly more than that his Cincinnati teammates, Frank McCormick, Eric Tipton, and Gerald Walker, all were present among the leaders.

McCormick was not among the first 10 last week, but he spirited into third place with .353 while Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs, who also was missing from the leaders a week ago, soared into second place with .373. Together they crowded the Phillies' Danny Litwhiler out of the runner-up slot and into a tie with his teammate, Babe Dahlgren, for fourth at .340.

Vernon (Junior) Stephens, of the St. Louis Browns remained in front of the American league with .392 as compared with his .448 of last week. Oris Hockett of Cleveland made his first appearance among the weekly leaders and grabbed off second place with .360.

Mike Higgins, who was runner-up a week ago with .418, slipped to third at .353.

BIG MIKE NAYMICK Softball Commission Sets Up Leagues for This Summer Play

Marion softball commission designer Vic Dorris, who was presiding in a meeting of that organization at the Y. M. C. A. last night, announced that softball can be set up in city softball leagues for this summer. Good houses within reasonable distance will be followed in proximity of Marion. The opening game of the 1943 season will be held at Lincoln Park next Monday between the Universal Coolers and Coca Cola outfits. The contest is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Dorris will provide some pre-game entertainment for the opening game.

As was expected earlier in the year by city softball officials, the number of teams this year has increased greatly from last spring, some of his boys in the year's Marion Mewhorne, secretary of the commission, reported that only 11 concerns and games. This added attraction will draw more people to Marion.

The team's physician announced yesterday the dean of the Indians' pitching staff, fractured a right ankle bone when he slid into second base in the eighth inning of last Saturday's game at St. Louis. Dr. E. B. Castle said the veteran right hander probably would be out of the lineup for two months.

Naymick has been a six-year disappointment but this season he has given indications of acquiring control. The West Virginian has appeared in four games, has pitched 12 1/2 innings and has allowed four hits and two runs. He gave up all the hits and runs in a starting assignment against Detroit two weeks ago, but hasn't permitted a batter to reach first in three relief chores.

The towering right hander came to the Tribe during Oscar Vitt's stormy regime and was considered a physical freak. Vitt encouraged him to kick his left foot high in delivering the pitch, apparently because the crowd enjoyed the exhibition.

Coaches Del Baker and Bert Shotton spent many hours with Mike this spring, and taught him to discard the exaggerated windup and throw normally. His wildness is disappearing and he is finding the plate with a normal degree of consistency.

Mike will get his big chance in the series against Washington which opens at Cleveland stadium tomorrow night. The commission decided that the Sabbath loop will play on Monday evenings this year with the Industrial league playing on Thursday.

Already Marion softball is threatened by a ball shortage. However, the commissioners were confident of obtaining enough balls to last for the first few weeks of the campaign at least. City Recreation Com-

Bids Go Up for Novikoff

By The Associated Press

The major leagues are using the intermission before their first intersectional slate of the season to feel out trade possibilities and the foremost figure in their discussions of deals is Joe Novikoff, the Chicago Cubs' hold our outside.

Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Brooklyn disclosed under cross examination last night that three other National League clubs—Cincinnati Reds, New York Giants and Philadelphia Phillies—had made propositions for the mad Russian.

The highball for is that the prospective buyers want to spend money instead of talent and Wilson is insisting on a high-minded young outfielder in exchange for the colorful clout who batted an even .300 last year.

Reds To Play Picked Team at Ft. Monmouth

By The Associated Press

FORT MONMOUTH, N. J., May 11—The Cincinnati Reds stopped here today for a twilight exhibition baseball game with a picked team of Army all-stars.

For the Reds' first invasion of the east, Philadelphia is the initial port of call. Manager Bill McKechnie will send four-game winner Johnny Vander Meer against the rejuvenated Phillips in the first of a three-game series tomorrow.

Bucky Harris, Philadelphia maestro, has elected Johnny Podgajny to perform the mound chores for the Shibe park outfit. Johnny was shelled from the firing line his last two trips out but received credit for both victories.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I OBEYED my father's command and sat down, as he went to the outer door.
"Oh, come in, Adams!" he said, and the door had no sooner closed again than Adams began to speak in low, hurried tones.
"I met Dixon," he said. "He is on his way up to see you, but I told him to wait a block or two away. No use letting anybody around here suspect that we know each other."

"You are right," my father said. "How long before Dixon gets here?"

"Probably five minutes," Adams replied, and my father looked at me.

"Is there anything to keep you from remaining here for—say a quarter of an hour?" he asked.
"Nothing," I replied promptly, "except that I should like to go in and tell Katharine I shall be away that long."

News for Katharine
Then I hurried into the bedroom where she had left Katharine.
"Well, dear?" she asked, "any news?"

"The best," I told her. "Father has consented to your going down to the hideaway and remaining with Jack a few days."

"But you must remember," I said, "that you cannot leave here until the affair of Ruth Hayes is settled."

"Yes, I know that," she said dully, "but surely I can wait a day or two, after these long days of doubt."

"Just keep that in mind," I said, "and now, I must go back for a quarter of an hour, so try to get some sleep."

"I will," she promised, and I went back. Adams and my father rose at my entrance, but did not have time to resent themselves before a knock sounded on the outer door.

"That will be Dixon now, I'm thinking," Adams said, and at my father's "Let him in," Adams opened the door, revealing a young, well-built and rather natively dressed man, who looked straight at my father.

"I was on my way up to see you, sir," he said, "when Adams told me you had sent him to get me."

"Sit down," my father said, and Adams pushed forward a chair. "I want a full report on the Hayes woman up to the last hour."

Dixon began to read from a sheaf of notes a monotonous record of following Ruth Hayes for several days, from the time she emerged from her apartment hotel to the restaurant where she took her breakfast, to the time, when late at night, she returned and came out no more until morning.

"Saunders took over, as you know, each night, at that point," Dixon said, "and watched until I came in again, early in the morning."

"Yes, I know," my father said. "Go on" and Dixon brought his account up to the preceding afternoon just before Ruth Hayes' visit to Hal Meredith's office.

I talked her to this apartment house, he said, giving an address two blocks away from Hal Meredith's office, and stayed in front of it until she came out an hour later.

"And right there is where she fooled you completely," my father said.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Protein in Rationing

WHEN I was younger, everybody knocked meat. It was supposed to be bad for the kidneys, bad for the heart, and bad for the blood pressure. People who lived on vegetables were the ones who were healthy.

Now, lo and behold, when we are threatened with a forced reduction in our meal consumption, it turns out that everybody has been eating meat and everybody likes meat better than anything else.

Meat is valuable for its protein. Protein is an absolutely essential element in the diet. The physiologists say: "Protein is unquestionably the most important of all known substances in the organic kingdom. Without it no life appears possible on our planet."

The questions naturally arise as to how much protein a human being requires and what form of protein-containing food is best.

As to minimal protein requirements, there is some difference of opinion. Professor Chittenden, of Yale, lived for a long time on 60 grams of protein a day, and said he felt much better than with a larger allowance. But he was an enthusiast.

Allen put the figure of protein requirement at 1½ grams per kilo of body weight. Newberger and March put it at 2-3 gram per kilo of body weight per day. Wilder put it at 1 gram per kilo of body weight per day. Taking the last figure as an average, this would mean for a 150-pound man that he needs 75 grams of protein a day, which is 1½ of a pound.

The trouble is that the arbitrary figure of 1 gram per kilo of body weight represents almost a minimum, rather than the average, of what people are used to. Such restriction would suit very few people; they would not be comfortable at that level.

Protein requirement is to a certain extent a matter of habit. We can get adjusted gradually to nearly any level of protein intake. Most Americans, I believe, eat pretty close to 2 grams of protein a day, which is nearly half a
